MEMBERS MATTER

Co-ops launch non-partisan voter engagement program

America's electric cooperatives have launched a non-partisan, nationwide effort, Co-ops Vote, to promote civic engagement and voter participation in the communities they serve.

Jeffrey Connor, interim CEO of the National Rural Electric Cooperative Association, unveiled the Co-ops Vote program at the association's 74th annual meeting recently. “Through Co-ops Vote, we want to help our Members know when elections are, what's at stake and how to make their voices heard,” Connor said. “Who folks vote for isn't really as important as the fact that they do vote.”

The Co-ops Vote initiative will focus on issues that are important to the health and prosperity of communities served by electric cooperatives. Electric cooperatives are perfectly designed to help address these important issues. Co-op Members can make politics ‘local’ again because civic engagement is part of our DNA.

A new website, vote.coop, offers co-op Members information on the voter registration process in their state, dates of elections, information on the candidates running in those elections, and explanations of the eight key issues the campaign aims to address. In keeping with its non-partisan goals, the initiative will not be endorsing specific candidates for office.

Mel Coleman, president of NRECA and CEO of North Arkansas Electric Cooperative, said the program would help ensure the voices of rural Americans are heard. “We want to make sure our government knows that rural America matters,” Coleman said. “This campaign isn't about divisive, partisan issues. It's about real people in real places facing real challenges. It's about our co-ops living out the principles of our movement: Concern for community and democratic control.”

Connor cited partisan gridlock in Washington, the explosive growth of money in politics and the effects of gerrymandering as important reasons for launching the program. In 2014, 318 of 435 House races had a margin of victory of 20 points or more¹, and 30 House candidates – 16 Democrats and 14 Republicans representing 11 states – didn't even face an opponent in the general election².

“Elections aren't won and lost in November anymore,” Connor said. “They're really decided in primaries months sooner, when fewer voters recognize the opportunity to vote, fewer participate and only a handful of issues are up for debate.” This results in a Congress where more members represent the extremes of each political party and are less inclined to seek compromise and bipartisan solutions to problems.

“The electric cooperative movement has always been non-partisan, and our communities are facing too many challenges to have a government crippled by bickering,” Coleman said. “When our parents and grandparents set out to electrify rural America, they didn't have time to ask the person next to them about their views on economic or social policy. Their economic policy was ‘we need to save this community’ and their social policy was ‘let's do it together.’ I hope the Co-ops Vote program can help rekindle that spirit of cooperation.”

Talquin Electric is doing its part to support this national effort. The Gadsden County Supervisor of Elections' Office will host a booth at Talquin's upcoming Annual Meeting where Members from all four counties can register to vote. The Annual Meeting will be held on April 30 at East Gadsden High School's gymnasium, where Members are encouraged to exercise their right to vote for the leadership of their cooperative.

As a cooperative, our number one priority is improving the quality of life for those we serve. An engaged community is going to be a healthier one. "At Talquin, we understand how important affordable and reliable utility services are for our communities," Tracy Bensley, General Manager of Talquin Electric, said. "Our Members can help ensure a secure future for our co-op through their participation in elections."

For more information about Co-ops Vote and the impact of these key issues on the people of Gadsden, Leon, Liberty and Wakulla counties, contact Talquin Electric at (850) 627-7651 or visit vote.coop.

Employee Spotlight – Keith Graham

We love hearing from our Members, no matter the reason. We especially love to hear from them when they are complimenting an employee. Recently, we heard from a Member that stated he saw an employee working an outage involving a car accident. The Member wanted to let us know that our employee is “a credit to your company.”

Well, that employee is one of our line-men, Keith Graham. When we spoke to Keith, he didn't think much of it and just stated he was doing his job. After all, he is very familiar with helping out his neighbors. From a small town in Tennessee, he worked at their local electric co-op, Caney Fork, for 15 years. During that time, you can imagine the ice storms and the effort required to get the power back on in that type of weather. Keith and his family eventually moved to sunnier weather and ended up with us at Talquin Electric, where he has been now for almost three years. So thank you, Keith, for doing what you do and for remembering that Members Matter!

William Bernard Lewis

William Bernard Lewis, 91 passed away Sunday, March 13, 2016. Mr. Bernard was born in Woodville and spent his life in Quincy as a cattleman, teaching many young people how to raise and care for livestock. He was retired from the U.S. Postal Service, was an Army Veteran of WW II and a member and former deacon of Thomas Memorial Baptist Church. He was the recipient of many awards some of which include The Florida 4-H Hall of Fame, Florida Cattleman's Associations Honorary Directors Award, and the 25 year service award for Gadsden County Soil and Water Conservation District. He served on the Talquin Electric Cooperative Board from 1972 to 2009, where he held the position of Secretary/Treasurer for many years. Mr. Bernard was a Southern gentleman and Christian man. Known by many, loved by all and he will be dearly missed in the community.

Survey Coming Mid May

Talquin will be partnering in mid-May with Seminole Electric Cooperative, our wholesale power provider, to conduct a survey of our Members regarding energy usage. This type of survey is conducted every three to five years to determine future demand for power. This online survey will be sent out via email to our Members. If you are not currently using Talquin's website for billing purposes and would like to receive a digital or paper copy of the survey, please contact Memberfeedback@talquinelectric.com or contact Kim Gay at (850) 627-7651 during business hours. This information is extremely helpful to our Planning and Design team and Seminole Electric so that we may provide the best services possible to our membership. Thank you in advance for your help with this project.

Word of the Month

Empower: em·pow·er (verb)

Give (someone) the authority or power to do something.

Talquin Electric Cooperative exists for a simple purpose: to Power Communities and Empower Members to improve the quality of their lives by providing electric, water and waste water services.

MAKE EVERY DAY EARTH DAY!!!

According to the Department of Energy, water heaters account for almost 17 percent of the energy you use in your home. That's more than all your other appliances combined. As we focus on the environment for Earth Day, here are some suggestions for things you can do at home to help conserve water and energy: adjust the temperature on your hot water heater, add insulation to reduce heat loss, and check for leaks.

FLORIDA ELECTRIC COOPERATIVES YOUTH TOUR

Eighteen high school juniors from Gadsden, Leon, and Wakulla Counties were selected to participate in the Talquin Electric Youth Tour in February at the state capitol. Students were chosen from Talquin's Membership to participate in the Youth Tour based on academics, leadership, communication skills, and volunteer service in their schools and communities.

Four students and five alternates were also selected from this group of outstanding student leaders to represent Talquin at the NRECA National Youth Tour in Washington, D.C. this summer. The national delegates are David Sailor, East Gadsden High School; Anslee Williams, North Florida Christian; Craig Mitchell, Leon High School; and Brandi Stevens, Wakulla

High School. The alternates are Emily Blomeley, Kipp Kirkland and Skylar Coppinger, Lawton Chiles High School; Nia Close, Lincoln High School; and Melissa Slinger, Florida State University Schools. These delegates will travel to Washington, D.C. in June where they will meet with approximately 1,500 students from all over the United States. They will visit historic landmarks and continue to learn about cooperatives and government during the tour.

Congratulations to each student who was chosen and participated in the competition. These future leaders are truly amazing and are all great representatives of their schools, Talquin and the state of Florida!

When Talquin Members Mike and Martha Crow settled down to start a family, they decided to plant their roots where Mike had grown up – on Lake Talquin in the house that his mother and father built. Both worked at Florida State University and had officially retired, but their strong work ethic passed down from their parents wouldn't let them relax for very long. They also wanted to pass along this work ethic to their two sons, so they bought a run-down building, fixed it up, and opened up Crow's Corner on the corner of Highway 20 and 267. Their store sells a combination of feed, grocery, bait, deli and anything else you might need. It is the local place to go for breakfast or lunch or just to catch up with your neighbors. Needless to say, Mike and Martha's roots are firmly planted in their family and community. So the next time you are driving down Highway 20, whether you are on your way to Tallahassee or the coast, stop on in and introduce yourself!
